I'm Jade Ivan Bringcola, a Full-Stack Web Developer from the Philippines specializing in modern, scalable, and responsive web applications. I help students, startups, and small businesses turn ideas into clean, secure, and maintainable digital solutions. With over a year of hands-on experience, I work primarily with Laravel and React, delivering API-driven systems, custom websites, and full-stack applications. I have a strong foundation in database design and optimization using MySQL, and I follow best practices in code quality, security, and version control.
